

Adria Mead

National Cargo Bureau

Adria Mead is the Research & Development Manager for the National Cargo Bureau (NCB), with over a decade of experience in dangerous goods, and environmental regulatory compliance. She specializes in translating complex regulatory, safety, and risk challenges into technically sound, operationally practical solutions, leading cross-functional teams from concept through implementation. Her work focuses on innovation in cargo safety, effective and regulatorily compliant training programs, performing dangerous goods gap analyses and using evidence-based decision making to support industry and stakeholder needs.