

ELI TODICH

Director of Vessel Services
T&T Salvage

Eli Todich is the Director of Vessel Services for T&T Salvage, where he supports vessel response, preparedness, and regulatory compliance programs for the maritime industry.

After graduating from the Diver's Institute of Technology, Eli began his career as a commercial diver with T&T Salvage. Over the course of more than a decade, he has held a variety of operational and leadership roles within the company, supporting marine salvage, emergency response, and specialized marine operations throughout the United States and internationally.

Eli was involved in the M/V GOLDEN RAY wreck removal project, serving on the team responsible for managing 24-hour diving operations during the largest wreck removal in U.S. history. The project spanned from March 2020 through December 2021 and required extensive coordination across multiple disciplines and stakeholders.

As Director of Vessel Services, Eli works with vessel owners, operators, response organizations, and regulatory agencies to support compliance with U.S. Coast Guard Salvage and Marine Firefighting (SMFF) regulations under OPA 90. His responsibilities include vessel response planning, preparedness initiatives, and helping ensure effective marine emergency response capabilities across the industry.
